To Whom It May Concern:

Ravi Adhi, worked at Christie Digital from February to May of 2011, as a JD Edwards consultant. He was hired by the IT department to provide the following consultative services.

- (a) JD Edwards integration;
- (b) Review current Finance Tickets and work with Finance team to prioritize and implement;
- (c) Review current process and suggest improvements/process or system;
- (d) Spec any agreed reports for handoff to development;

During the period of his engagement, Ravi demonstrated very good technical, process design and interpersonal skills. He was very meticulous in organizing and prioritizing his work and was very thorough in his documentation, especially when he created functional design specs, for development work.

What made Ravi unique was that, in addition to being hands on, he was also very strategic in his approach. He demonstrated a very keen interest in analyzing the root cause of the issues and suggested long term solutions, for some of the issues faced by the Kitchener, Christie Finance Department, to optimize the use of JD Edwards.

Overall I find Ravi to be a well rounded consultant. Please accept this as a reference of Ravi for your employment considerations.

Yours truly,

Director of IT
