March 18, 2003

To Whom It May Concern:

Ravi Adhiyappan was a member of the Cap Gemini team that implemented JD Edwards software for Coca-Cola Fountain in Atlanta. Ravi was the lead consultant for Job Cost from December 2002 to March 2003.

Unfortunately during the course of this project, The Coca-Cola Company went through a business reorganization resulting in the JD Edwards project being placed on hold and likely to be cancelled.

Serving Customers in the Restaurant and Hospitality Industry

During the period when I worked with Ravi as the Coca-Cola Job Cost lead, I found him to be very energetic and enthusiastic with excellent interpersonal skills. One of the challenges for Job Cost implementation was integrating Job Cost to the Fixed Assets, Purchasing, Inventory and the G/L modules. Ravi's depth of experience in all of these modules was extremely valuable to Job Cost implementation.

Ravi was very meticulous in maintaining an issues data base and was able to creatively manipulate the JD Edwards software to meet our requirements. His back ground as an accountant was very useful in establishing audit controls.

Overall, Ravi's outstanding communication and organizational skills and extensive knowledge of JD Edwards software would make him a valuable addition to any team. I would recommend him to any company that wishes to use his services to implement the JD Edwards software.

Sincerely,

Al C.Cobb
Job Cost Lead / Systems Project Manager
Coca-Cola Fountain
Atlanta, Georgia
USA